Show your Rosie Pride on
ROSIE THE RIVETER DAY
March 21st!

During WWII, 6 million women stepped into roles traditionally deemed “men’s work.” “Rosie the Riveter” became a symbol of these hardworking women, embodying their patriotic spirit and vital contributions to the war effort.

While Rosie the Riveter is the catchy nickname that includes all these women, there was also Wendy the Welder, Sheila the Shell-loader, Flossie the Filling Station Jockey, and Shirley the Shortstop. All these women deserve to be honored as “Rosies,” because we could not have won World War II without their contributions.
